

Snow Dough

You'll need 3 household items – Cottonelle, Ivory soap (it has to be Ivory or it won't work), and water!

Take a half a roll of the Triple Roll and ripped it into smaller bits and put it in a bowl or bin.

Now you're going to take your bar of Ivory soap, put it on a microwave safe dish and microwave it for 1 minute on high (you can continue doing increments of 15 seconds until all of it gets fluffy). It's pretty neat to watch puff up so let your kiddos watch too! Just be careful when you first take it out, it will be a little hot but will quickly cool down. The soap will be fluffy and almost papery too. It'll break apart super easily, so break it down into little chunks in the same bowl/bin you have the ripped up toilet paper

Now it's time to add the water! I used about 2 1/2 cups but it's up to you gauge how dry/wet you want your Snow Dough to be. Just add a cup at a time until it's at a texture the kids like.

Now when it comes to clean up...don't worry! It's super easy to clean since its soap to begin with! No need to worry about anything getting stained! As an added bonus your house (and microwave) will smell like Ivory soap!

So grab some Cottonelle and make some Snow Dough!
